- Cosmeceuticals

CRUNIT's challenge is to satisfy customer needs providing added value by means of an integral management of their biotechnological and biomedical projects:

- Collaborating in design, development and clinical validation of diagnostic tools and medical devices
- Supporting drug development processes and health claims, with focus on Phase I - Phase IV clinical research studies, including an inpatient Phase 1 facility and outpatient specialized research centres.

CRUNIT acts as a centralized point-of-contact to assist customer needs, and manages projects efficiently through the IIS La Fe Research groups, Platforms, Units and Services necessary for their development, providing:

1 Tailored solutions at each stage of the health development process, adapting services to any company (small biotech start-ups, international pharmaceutical companies, etc...) to increase project success.

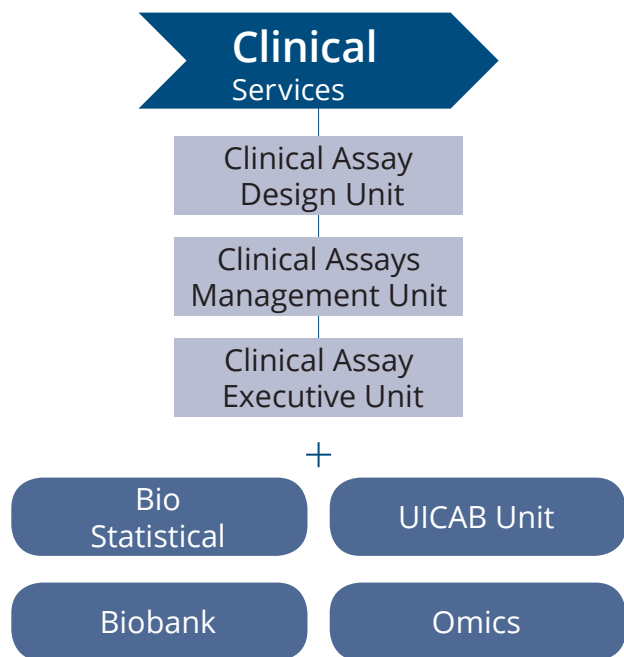

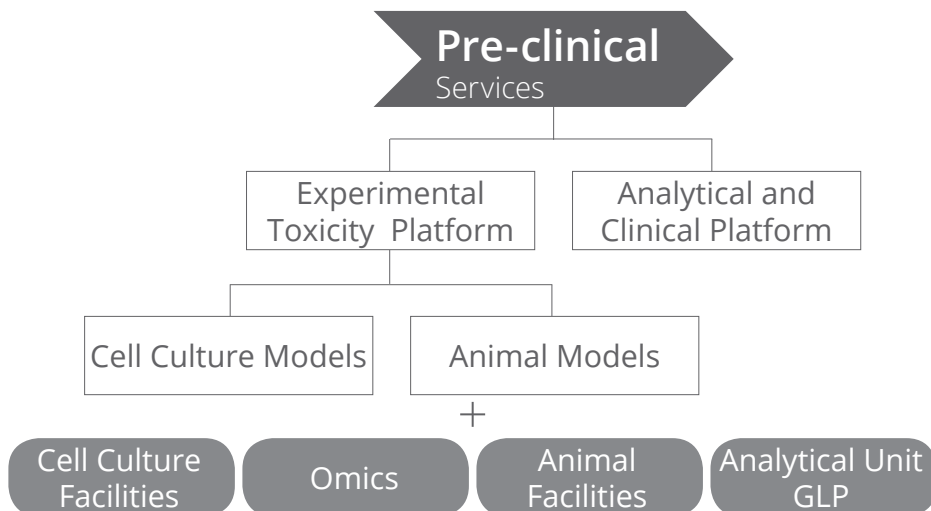

2 Advanced scientific and technological services in R&D and pre-clinical stage to improve the quality of results.

3 Knowledge based on renowned researchers and experienced physicians in a wide variety of biomedical challenges.

4 The best cost-effective balance possible combining knowledge, experience and innovative technologies efficiently, with GLP/GCP compliance, to create a customized approach to clients.
